Classroom Competition over Territory

There were three teams in the game

One piece of territory was white, which was more valuable than other territories

All teams developed plans to control all of the white territory

The blue team had farther to go to get to the territories, and sometimes had obstacles or fewer team mates

Historic Competition over Jerusalem

Members of three faiths lived in the Holy Land; Jews, Christians and Muslims

One city, Jerusalem, was important to people of all three faiths

European Christians tried to sieze control of Jerusalem and the rest of Palestine. This led to a series of religious wars.

European Christians had to travel far distances to reach the Holy Land, including crossing the Mediterranean Sea, and were often outnumbered.
